PCM: Integrated Benefit Administration and Claim Processing Technology Designed for Your Success

Integrated Tools Tailored to Your Business

Plexis Claims Manager is an integrated healthcare information system providing complete benefit administration, claim processing, and reporting features. Tailored to reduce administrative costs and increase productivity, Plexis Claims Manager is designed to provide a solid return on technology investments.

Fast, Automated Health Care Claims Processing

Claim processing and auto-adjudication are accomplished by entering claim processing data on a single screen. Claims flow seamlessly from their source to final preparation for payment in seconds.

Standard and Custom Reporting

Plexis Claims Manager provides powerful automated reporting capabilities that allow you to query any information in your database, extract data with any ODBC-compliant software, and create standard or custom reports on any data in the system. Plexis Claim Manager's reporting features allow organizations to forecast benefit changes, identify healthcare billing trends and new cost-saving opportunities with hard data.

Broad Scalability to Grow with Your Organization

Plexis Claims Manager is capable of administering unlimited benefit plans, provider contracts, and members – there's no need go outside the Plexis family of products as your business grows.

Expand Your Business with Powerful Add-on Components

Plexis EDIWorks

Efficient, HIPAA-ready electronic gateway to send, receive, and store electronic data from any source.

Plexis WEBWorks

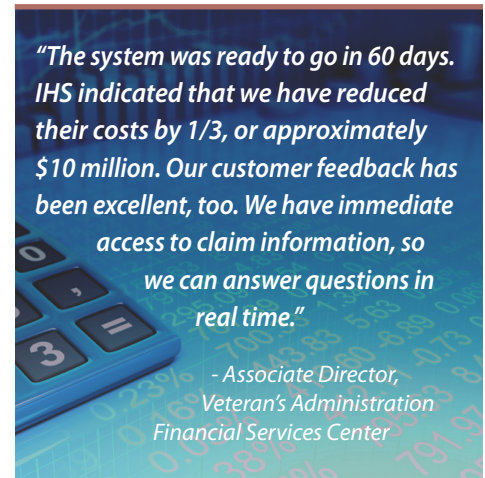

Easy-to-use web portal allows TPAs, plan sponsors, agents/brokers, members and providers to instantly communicate and share data.

Plexis Direct

Automates and manages flow of transactions from any browser via secure login and provides real-time claim submission and auto-adjudication.

Hardware Requirements

Plexis Claims Manager requires a mid-range server, Microsoft SQL Server 2005 database system, and standard Windows PCs. The familiar Windows look and feel reduces the time required for training and implementation, and enhances customer service, while eliminating redundant processes such as entering the same data on different screens.

Manage your health plan data accurately and easily with Plexis Claims Manager's integrated benefit administration, claim processing and reporting.

Seamless Integration with Microsoft Office Technology

Plexis Claims Manager is built using Microsoft technology, an open architecture design, and the familiar Microsoft Windows screen format. The open architecture allows changes in business processes to be easily applied to the system, and the Windows format is easy to use, requires minimal training time and can be seamlessly integrated into your current office technology.

Plexis Claims Manager's technology platform also features Microsoft's SQL Server 2005. Benchmarked for scalability, speed and performance, SQL Server 2005 provides a powerful data management solution.

Flexible Rules-based Processing

Rules-based processing delivers flexibility and adaptability that conventional claim processing software lacks. Rather than viewing a healthcare information technology program as a single, complex process, rules-based processing approaches it as a series of simple steps. A number of different rules are provided for each step, and in order to customize programs, clients can even select the rule(s) that best fits their individual situations. This approach provides healthcare organizations with an information platform that makes it easy to add new lines of business and manage changes in the industry.

Auto Adjudication Cuts Costs and Boosts Productivity

Auto adjudication refers to the ability to process a claim from beginning to end with no manual intervention. Plexis Claims Manager automatically verifies the eligibility, checks coverage limits and restrictions, confirms the authorization, computes the payment, deducts the co-payments, coinsurance, deductibles, and COB, checks out-of-pocket limits and stop loss, in seconds per claim.

"Plexis lives up to its promise. Very flexible, the system easily leads into new market trends. Their strength is personal contact, client relationships, and professional IT. Their guidance has helped ensure our success."
